Housing

ASU Residential Halls

This option is only available for Global Launch students who are conditionally admitted to ASU. Residential halls and other on-campus housing options are just minutes away from classes and dining options, and provide communities where you can learn, grow and make the most of your student experience.

- Prices for rooms vary and are based on two people sharing a room.
- There is no married or family housing available on campus.
- The minimum stay is eight weeks.
- You may purchase a meal plan to eat in the cafeterias or restaurants on campus.

Applying for On-Campus Residential Housing

Global Launch students must submit an on-campus housing application and a non-refundable application fee directly to ASU University Housing. When you apply for housing at the MyHousing Portal (<http://asu.starrezhousing.com/StarRezPortal/Default.aspx?Params=L9ezxPcQnQuRGKTzF%2b4sxeNblvAA%2b26c>), you will confirm your application. University Housing will directly bill your ASU account for the $125 application fee.

Homestays are a great way to learn about American family culture. Each family is carefully screened and selected. Families vary; some families are single parents with children and some are older couples without children.

- Students receive breakfast and dinner daily and have their own bedrooms.
- Transportation to school and home must be arranged.
- Some students take the bus, ride bicycles or ride with host family members, if possible.

To learn more about the variety of homestay options available, it is recommended that you visit the websites of the following four companies and contact them directly. Applications for homestays should be submitted to the company a minimum of two months prior to your session start date.
