“

I arrived in Ireland without speaking any English, but I seized every opportunity to learn it and completed three general English courses. I had never imagined that I would one day embark on a higher education journey abroad. It exceeded my expectations entirely.

The dream has become a reality! Undertaking a master's degree in Ireland proved to be the greatest challenge of my career, also a remarkable achievement. The program brought me significant personal and professional growth, while also opening many doors for me. I had the privilege of connecting with people from diverse countries and the opportunity to exchange experiences from different markets. This greatly contributed to my learning process.

“

During my master in Ireland, I had the privilege to study alongside peers from diverse backgrounds like Dubai, Germany, India, Africa and, of course, Ireland. Our professors, industry experts, were always supportive and eager to share their wealth of experience.

One of the things I liked the most was that there were many practical projects. I worked on projects with Irish companies. This gave me the opportunity to put into practice all my knowledge and at the same time learn from what big companies are doing in the current market.

Studying in Ireland has truly been an enriching journey that's opened doors to promising career opportunities.
